“ Love and prayers to all the family. Thankful for the years we were blessed with Conrad.

On May 24, 2025, we were almost to mom's house, we got there around 1:15, I had been thinking how much Conrad wanted to be back on the farm. Little did I know a few hours later we would get word that he had passed.

Since Conrad's passing on Monday. I have been reminiscing about our childhood.

As little sisters are, they want to do everything their big brothers can, at least we did. We learned to play ball, climb trees, jump off the garage roof, standing on the side of a 55 gal. barrel and rolling it, like we were log rollers. There was always something we could learn from them. They made it fun, possibly a little risky at times. Even doing chores (not that all chores were easy) we had some fun even with the sweat. Working in the hayfield we would have fun rolling bales of hay to stack in piles to see who could do it faster, before they would get back with the trailer and even as we got older stacking them in the hay shed.

Conrad had a sneaky look that you knew he was up to something and his sidekick (Joe) was up to participating at any time. Especially if it came to pestering each other's wives.

As we got older we would try to be there for each other if we were able to be, sometimes distance makes it difficult, but prayers are always there.

He loved and cared very much for his family. His daughters were his world, then he extended his family to a stepson and grandchildren.

Our parents and all his siblings were very important to him as well as all his nieces and nephews. He loved us all dearly as we did him.

Till we meet again

Love you always,

Your sister, Sharon,

Robbie and Amanda

I had the privilege of working with Conrad and being his supervisor for a while at Maverick. Conrad was such a gentle soul. I have often said that that they make Hallmark movie Grandpa's based off of Conrad's character. He will be missed by many.
