“ Summers in French Creek were spent being a kid for me. I go back in my mind often. Being a kid in Slab Camp meant pulling your weight or learning or both. Having a role model to guide these things is vital to all of us. Riding a minibike without a clutch, up a hill, frowned upon. Understanding what an 89 cc air cooled single engine is; critical. Playing football or basketball without knowing the rules AND having a fair team competition was required. You never cut wet grass, you always include your family, you did the weeding in Dulcies garden and had to mow her grass too. "And get out of that ditch bank". You cut, rowed, baled, and loaded the flat bed trailer with hay bales when told. Then you stacked the bales (bigger than me) in the barn to make sure they kept dry through the Winter to feed the Cows. All this had to be done before sundown - the job had to be finished before quitting. In return you got to ride the tractor and eat. Eat all you wanted for a job well done. You didn't talk back, you did what you were told. My Uncle George looked after me, defended, instructed, and backed me when another person stepped in my space. He took me to the doctor and the Game Farm too. He took me to the top of some Mountain where 2 way radio signal(s) were incredible and "those radio waves interfere with my remote control planes" he would state. Man we listened to voices from everywhere. He did all these things while working graveyard shift at Moores. Uncle George's lessons will be forever ingrained and never forgotten. My only hope is that there remains a little of Uncle George in me. You are missed and loved Uncle George.

“ Dear Barb and Family,
Patti and i just learned of George's passing. We are saddened by the loss of one of the finest people we ever knew. Having known him , his parents, brothers and sisters since the early 1950"s, I can only say that it was an honor to know them. Of course, we feel the same way about you and your children as well.
Memories of you and George and the good times we had ; Patti and your twins during her college days; the decades at Moore; Dad and George hunting and fishing; the closeness Mom had with each of you = part of Countless Happy Memories. Our earthly loss is Heaven's eternal gain. God bless each of you.
