“ Bonner family, it hurt to hear about Kendrick. I still remember the day I met him. Our parents had just moved us to the house on Hyres Drive. Cameron and I were playing in the fort at the edge of the woods and Kendrick rode the little red bike he had across the Rosencrant's yard and came to meet us. It was a hard move and I had trouble adjusting and I remember just wanting to make friends. Then Kendrick comes along and it was suddenly like Cameron and I had a 3rd little brother. We spent a lot of summers with him riding bikes, playing video games, basketball, and driving both sets of parents crazy. It's hard to describe, but thinking about him being gone is a mix of holding back tears, and laughing because so many memories are him making me laugh until my ribs hurt. He used to do this thing when we were playing xbox where he'd shout some random stuff whenever something would go wrong. We'd try to hold a straight face but he'd keep stepping it up and saying something more ridiculous each time until he made us crack. Then Austin Powers came out and he had this phase where he said everything in a British accent. I know this stuff was 20 years ago but I still can't help but miss it. I'm glad we got to grow up with him, and all of you. Take care Cathy, Kenny, Adara and Chelsea.

*Aww Chad thank you so much. He missed you all terribly when you moved. He thought of you boys as brothers too. We talked of you boys often and the things you all did that we parents knew nothing of. And it's a good thing we didn't!!!
We love you all.*

“ Kendrick today has been so hard. I've waited all day for you to come home from your gallivanting around weekend. Asking what's for supper and how soon it will be ready. Always the impatient hungry child. Then it it hits in waves that you will never be here to eat my meals again. Son I miss you so very much and my heart is broken. I'll you always and forever. Until we meet again. Love Mom
